PAINT & PATCHES MAKE PLANS FOR BANQUET

The "Yellow Face" a fascinating new night club is to open Saturday night, April 27th, when the old members of Paint and Patches will be entertained by the new members.

As it is the opening night of the club, special entertainments will be an important part of the program. The management prefers to keep the details of the evening as a complete surprise, but promises splendid music and delicious things to eat.

The management consists of Fanny O'Brian at its head, with Perry Whittaker, Emma Knowlton, Eleanor Frankie, Helen Goodwin and Louise Lutz, assisting. The tea-room at the Oakwood Inn will be completely transformed by the clever ingenuity of this committee.

Archaeology Professor Lectures On Greece

Professor Clarence Hoffman Young visited Sweet Briar last week and gave a lecture in the chapel Friday night with "Glimpses of Greece" as his subject. Professor Young is now professor of Archaeology at Columbia University and was known to us before as a friend of Miss Glass' and graduate professor of Miss Rootnson.

"Glimpses of Greece" was the story of an automobile trip taken through Greece by routes that were out of the usual tourist paths. The hens, glimpsing thymettus and Pentrip went from Piraeus, past Attelicon and so to the island of Eubaea. Along the way were seen splendid forests, ancient towns and many interesting ruins.

Professor Young showed along with his lecture a series of slides which were remarkably interesting and were tinted by Professor Young himself. There were pictures of the theatre at Eretia, the bee-hive tomb at Orchomenus, women washing in the streams by the roadside, and the beautiful country flowers of Greece.

Other places of note visited were saly, the Valley of Tempe, Delphi the monastaries of Northen Thessand Mt. Parnassus.

Sophomore Class Chooses Banquet Toast-Mistress

The Sophomore class has chosen Eleanor Faulk as toast-mistress for the Senior-Sophomore banquet.

Every year the Sophomores entertain their sister class at some such affair. This year the banquet will be held at the Oakwood Country Club in Lynchburg, on the night of May 14th.

The other nominees for toast-mistress were Charlotte Kent, Dorothy Boyle, Frances O'Brian, Margaret Lee and Peggy Ferguson.

Athletic Asso Makes Further Nominations

Nominations for the three remaining officers of the Athletic Association have been announced.

These nominations are: Vice President—A. Blake, A. Sproul, and M. Huntington; Secretary—J. Gibbs, M. Huntington, L. Shirley, and P. Kelley; Treasurer—R. Keeler, A. Sproul, D. Boyle, J. Gibbs, and A. McRae.

These will be voted on next Monday, by preferential ballot.

GLEE CLUB ELECTS 1929-'30 PRESIDENT

Elizabeth Copeland was elected President of the Glee Club for the year 1929'30, at a meeting held Monday night.

Nancy Coe at the same time was elected Secretary; Betsy Williams, Treasurer; and Constance Fowler, Publicity Manager.

Elizabeth has always been extremely interested in the Glee Club, and has given Lisa Guigon, the out-going President, a great deal of help in selecting music and stimulating interest in the organization.

Mr. J. D. Bennett Of Yale Added To English Staff

The English staff for next year was completed this week by the appointment of Mr. Joseph Dexter Bennett, of Yale, as Assistant Professor.

Mr. Bennett, who is a native of Wyoming, was graduated from Yale in 1922. The following year he spent in making a world tour. In 1923-'24 he was a member of the Yale faculty in English and was then appointed Rhodes Scholar for his native State. The three following years he spent at Oriel College Oxford, with vacations on the Continent. He returned to Yale in 1927 where he has taught Freshman and Sophomore English and was assistant in a course in the English Novel.

Prof Rudolph Willard says of him: "This training in England makes him especially effective in the more intimate methods of the honors type of teaching as well as in the regular class room instruction."

Mr. Bennett will teach Freshman English, Advanced Composition and 19th Century Prose, and the department anticipates him as a man of pleasing personality with an excellent cultural and social background.

Va. Social Science Asso. Holds Meeting Here

The Virginia Social Science Association held a series of extremely interesting meetings at Randolph-Macon and at Sweet Briar last Friday and Saturday. Matters of world-wide as well as those of local interest were discussed.

Dr. Harold G. Moulton, director of the Institute of Economics in Washington, and author of "French Debt Problems," "Germany's Capacity to Pay," and other well-known books on economics, spoke at one of the meetings. His talk was on "Investigations of International Debt-Paying Capacity," and he says that Germany will never be able to pay her full debt to the United States.

Local problems discussed were the Future of the Issues, and Education in the South. The prospect for better conditions among the Issues is vague, and their problems are apparent without practical solution. Mrs. Wallcs contributed much to this field of study, with a talk on "Backward Virginians."

Too little specialization among the faculties of Southern universities, and too many courses for "mental discipline" for the students, are among the educational problems noted.

Interesting letters preserved by the Ambler family, telling of life in Virginia from 1820 to 1860 were described by Miss Sparrow to the College Choir Will Give Program At W. & L. Univ.

The College Choir has been invited to give a program of sacred music at Washington and Lee University at Lexington, on Sunday afternoon, April 28th.

The party will drive over in faculty cars including Miss Glass's car. After the program supper will be served for the choir.

With a few exceptions the program will be different from the one given at the musical service last Sunday.

'May Day Songs' Subject For Convocation

Convocation tomorrow will be conducted by Elizabeth Copeland whose subject is. "The May Day Songs."

Sweet Briar's May Day songs are known by the majority of students on campus. However, the occasion demands that there be good singing. Practice is necessary to acquaint everyone with the right words and the order of the songs.

KATRYNE BLAKE MADE NEW TAU PHI HEAD

At a Tau Phi meeting, unexpected as to program, held last Wednesday evening, Katryne Blake was elected and initiated the new President of the organization, to succeed Lisa Guigon.

Katryne has done a varied number of things since she has been at Sweet Briar, such as being President of the Junior class, Business Manager of the Brambler, Treasurer of the Dramatic Association, and interested in the Y. W. and English Club.

Through her ability and experience she is more than fitted to take over the Presidency of such an organization as Tau Phi.

Delegates Report On Student Gov't. Conference

Sweet Briar sent Esther Tyler and Norvell Royer to the S. I. A. S. G. Conference held at Sophie Newcomb College, in New Orleans, last Thursday and Friday. The delegates were met and taken out to the college where they were to stay. Esther and Norvell were entertained in Warren House, a new dormitory, with its cafeteria dining room.

The conference, which was held mainly for discussion of problems meeting Student Government presidents, opened formally Thursday morning with a "Welcome," by Dean Pierce Butler, followed by an address, The Realm of Student Government, by Miss Catherine Adams, Dean of Mills College. Addresses and open forms continued throughout the day. That night all were entertained in the gym. A swim followed.

Friday morning was devoted to several more addresses, the afternoon to sight-seeing and tea in La Vieux Carre. A formal dinner in the evening and a final address closed the conference. Elections of new officers took place Saturday morning.

The combined ideas of about fifty delegates from representative Southern women's colleges were intensely interesting and very helpful. The out-going presidents led the discussions and the in-coming presidents profitted by them.

Esther said that the college had a very fine art school and that their pottery department was particularly interesting. The trip was profitable as well as very entertaining.

Plans Completed For Amherst County Day

"Most of the plans for Amherst County Day have now been completed and will be ready for publication in a week or ten days," announces Mrs. Bertha Walles of the Sociology Department, who is general chairman of the affair this year.

Amherst County Day, which falls on Saturday, May, 18, is an annual occasion when Sweet Briar is hostess for one day to all the people of Amherst County, who come here each year in increasing numbers to make merry by taking advantage of all the entertainments which Sweet Briar offers them.

In addition to the Baby Show, which is always a popular attraction, several new features are to be included on the program this year. Among them is a spelling match for school children, community singing, an exhibition of dancing which is being planned by Miss Margaret Goreth, and a short concert by the

JUNIORS WILL GIVE 'WEDDING BELLS'

The Junior play, "Wedding Bells", will be presented Thursday night, May 2nd. Rehearsals are now in progress under the direction of Betsy Embry. The cast is as follows:

Fusiaski —Mary E. Macdonald
Reginald Carter —Ruth Keeler
Spencer —Marjorie Sturges
Jackson —Elizbeth Goraline
Douglass —Gwen Olcott
Marcia —Myra Marshall
Mrs. Hunter —Katryne Blake
Rosalie —Mary Moss

The play is set in a New York apartment and is a comedy of situation involving the unfortunate buried past turning up at last minute before his wedding. However after many surprises and moments of suspense a happy ending is reached with an ingentous solving of the problem.

Cast Rehearsing For May Day Pageant

The characteristic portrayal of the four seasons is the basis of the May Day Pageant, headed by Harriet Williams. An introduction in which all four of the season's dance is followed by some solo and some group dances representing each one of the seasons.

Autumn is to be interpreted by Lisa Guigon, Winter by Mildred Larimer, Spring by Avery Phillips, and Summer by Margaret Kneedler. These four will be assisted and supported by the following:

College Choir Gives Annual Song Service

The musical program sung by the College Choir at the Vesper Service last Sunday was rendered by the full choir. The music which would have been a test to more experienced singers was a great credit to the members of the choir.

The Palestrina selection, "O Bone Jesee," is a beautiful example of early church music and a great favorite with the choir, as well as the unaccompanied number by Praetorius," "Lo, how a Rose ere blooming." A few of these selections will be repeated at Washington and Lee at Lexington, next Sunday, where the choir is to give a program of sacred music.

PRESENT 'NEWS' STAFF STEPS ASIDE.

With this issue the 1928-'29 Staff of the News presents its final efforts, and steps aside to let another take its place. Stepping aside for others—that is one of the oldest things in the world. We see it every day of our lives. Each day takes the place of the day before; new leaves blossom to replace the old; rain falling in a puddle forms bubbles, which in turn are destroyed by the same rain that made them and new ones form. Thus different people take each other's places, organizations are continually changing hands. And since it is always thus, we of the old staff must fall in with the order of things.

We shall not modestly say that we have done nothing for our paper. We feel that it has advanced many steps towards the ideal of perfection. But even as we leave it, we catch a glimpse of those many more steps it must take—some very near and about to be gained and others much further away. However, it is of some satisfaction to be conscious of an ideal.

The material advancements of the News are not obvious, except for the acquisition of a typewriter and the compilation of a style book, which no doubt will bring important results as to better and more consistent writing in the correct newspaper form.

As to the less material advancements—those things which are not obviously noticeable—the News has adopted an editorial platform, has drawn up a constitution, and has joined the National Scholastic Press Association. This body offers many services to its members, the most outstanding of which is the annual contest where college papers are judged in competition. In the contest this year the Sweet Briar News received second-class honors, which is not such an admirable thing in itself, but through the criticism received various mistakes have been called to our attention, which it will be our strictest endeavor to remedy. It is not so much that we have accomplished a great deal as the fact that we have made beginnings in various lines. May these beginnings take root and grow into something of real value!

To those in whose hands we leave our charge we wish all kinds of success. May you climb many more steps towards the ideal and may your way be bright!

'THE YEAR'S AT THE SPRING.'

Recalling from Miss Crawford's chapel address last week her reference to the "Spirit of Spring," we feel we can no more help saying something about music part of the essence of Spring than we can help feeling like singing when Spring actually comes.

It may be such a spirit that affected the Glee Club when it gave a Spring Concert which in the general concensus of opinion was the best in its history. It may have been such a spirit that inspired the Orchestra to give a truly unforgettable performance, not only of the exquisite and popular Schubert B Minor symphony, but of everything else it presented. It may have been such a spirit that makes our May Day songs so infectuous with a universal gladness that we want them sung this year with a concentrated effort which will make them a real part of the celebration. It may be such a spirit that made successful our Spring song contest; the medium of bringing well-earned acclaim to the hard work of the truly-talented, as well as giving us new songs to sing and love. It may be such a spirit thatmakes our Spring step-singings so live, our Senior-Sophomore songs so touching, our Junior-Freshman ones so sparkling. And if it is so, it is not only because we are living in the Spring of the year, but because we are living in it together, and our love and ideals are better realized in sharing them with each other in the way most in harmony with the spirit of the year.

Why, oh why, doesen't someone do something real funny so it can be written for this column? In view of the fact that it is Springtime and therefore the proper time for action of some sort, auspicious or otherwise, we promulgate an increase in activities with Betty the Briarite news value.

S. McAllister provides the week's best entertainment by seeking a quiet place to take a short catnap last Saturday night, and proving to be a distracting influence by so doing. She showed a contrast by going to the other extreme or elevation yesterday, as she sat on top of a tall pine tree eating an ice cream cone. She seems to vary between staying close to earth and as far away as she can possibly get.

When we went home for vacation most of us were greeted by a mammy's knee and an occasional childhood friend, but all the little flowers that bloom in the Spring, tra la, were glad to have their absent member, Ann Brent, back again in their midst. Yes sir—she said so. Even the bridal wreath bush, which as a child she lovingly called "My own," met her at the front gate with wide-spread arms.

Hodgson, my dear, watch your step! We hear faint rumors of Jean Crawford spending a week-end (or wasn't it a week?) in Charottesville, with a friend of yours. Dame Rumor hath it that she left on Wednesday and returned the following Tuesday.

Lovers of M. Brown's song and "box" accompaniment are once more rounded up for the return of Brown herself. The combination of her music and these nights isn't bad.

And lovers of strolling in the moonlight with dates are moaning over the sudden termination of that pleasure by the return of Essie from New Orleans.

Miss Crawford pulled a fast one on Tallaferro the other day,—poor Tol is still wondering why the laughter when she agreed that Dickens wrote "The Newcombes."

Dr. Johnson of Richmond, was taken back the other day when, in the middle of a comment on the modern woman rolling her stockings, he became suddenly aware of three pairs of bare legs lined up on the front row before him. He must admit that it's an improvement over his conception of modern style, tho.'

"No girls may ride unchaperoned to town with men." So Tuck Jones and Katryne Blake with their dates, Ernest and Griffith Edwards, had to go into the circus Monday on the bus. Well, you've got to take those precautions these days,—the wild younger set. . . .

Abie Blake has returned at last from an extended visit home. She came back, at that, two days earlier than she intended because she can't afford to let her studies go for very long. She only got A's and a B last term. Imagine anyone getting a B!

Philanthropists Donate Most To Education.

According to the Barnard Bulletin, more money has been put to educational uses in the past year than ever before in history, a compilation of gifts in money to colleges and universities in the United States reveals. Education, this survey shows, is replacing other forms of charity in what is now known as the "phenomenal industry" of philanthropy. In 1927 philanthropy had the third largest income of all organizations in the world.

More than eight per cent of all money given to philanthropy goes to education, and of this amount more than five per cent goes directly to colleges and universities.

During 1928 and January 1929, Cornell was given $8,000,000, being topped only by Harvard with $21,000,000; Yale received $2,000,000, Columbia $4,000,000, and Pennsylvania $300,000. It is believed that during 1928 gifts to universities mounted to $135,000,000, while $105,000,000 was given for general educational purposes.

Novel Secret Society.

A novel secret society has been formed at the University of Florida, known as the 13 Club because of the number of members. The club has for its purpose the general welfare and prosperity of the institution, and the identity of the members is kept secret, until their death.

W. & L. Wins Radio Debate.

Washington and Lee University held a debate with the Chicago Kent School of Law, by radio. The judges were the "listeners in," who sent in their decisions from all parts of the country, with the final result of 150 to 84 in favor of W. & L. There were letters from lawyers, doctors, railroad men, lumber men, and all other varieties, and interest in the debate was widespread.

College Degrees of Hoover.

Herbert Clark Hoover, President of the United States, has twenty-six college degrees, nine more than any person listed in the latest edition of "Who's Who in America," recently published. Charles E. Hughes, former Justice of the Supreme Court, and Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University are tied for second place with seventeen degrees each.

Reversing Things.

Purdue University innovated a plan which allows each student to grade his instructors as to neatness, presentation of the subject matter, and other qualities which make a good teacher. As undergraduates will hand in the criticisms without signatures it is expected that the ratings will prove beneficial both to instructors and students.

Something New.

Margaret Lloyd, a student at Bessie Tift College, has recently been honored by receiving an appointment to West Point Military Academy. This is quite a distinction, as she is the first woman ever to receive such an honor. Probably by the time we have another war, one need not leave his sweetheart behind, but have her at his side on the firing line.

HALL OF FAME.

We nominate to the Hall of Fame Lisa Guigon, because she has done more than mostly anyone for the Glee Club; because she has successfully directed many May Day Pageants; because she has done most of the dancing for all of the 1929 shows; because, as president of Tau Phi, she was not only instrumental in getting the new emblems, but she cleverly tricked the Chung Mungs by having the election of the president before they had even thought about it.

We nominate to the Hall of Fame, Norvell Royer, because she takes office tonight as "the peoples' choice" for President of Student Government; because she knows the name of every person on campus; because she is only 18 years old. And finally, because she has gone to Rhea's every day for three years, but never smokes.

OPEN LETTER

Dear Editor:—

In a recent edition of the "Alumni Features Service," published by the American Alumni Council, I find the following article which may give some of us, in "he-man" language, a clearer conception of why we are here:

"A College Education is Still Worth While.

People sometimes wonder whether a college education in these standards of days is worthwhile for everybody. A man who can merely read and write can get along fairly well in this machine age.

Those who happened to have business around the telegraph offices about Christmas time no doubt noticed the pamphlets containing "suggested forms for holiday greetings messages." If the customer could count up to sixteen, all he needed to do was to order by number, and the operator would send "My heart is with you at this glad season of the year" (No. 6); or "May all happiness be yours not only at Christmas but forever" (No. 2). "Cheer by telegraph. If the basketball team of good old McGoopus is having a critical game, "send a telegram. It will be delivered and read in the dressing room in a few minutes . . ." "Blank-Blank is behind you, rooting for victory," reads one of the ready-made messages. "Fight with everything you have," etc., etc. Order by number.

Sets of memorial chimes are now available with paper rolls. "The press of a finger, the turn of a dial, and the Chimes peal forth their lovely, golden throated melodies." There are radio sets that don't even have to be tuned in. Most movies can be understood by people with a mental age of ten years or less. Ready-cut little ship models for mantels, with all the pieces carefully numbered red, can be tapped together about as readily by the dullard as by the cum laude A. B. You can get an "automatic concertina with a music box concealed in it.

Nor do the arguments setting forth the financial advantages of a college education especially electrify us. We are told that the average college graduate may earn $160,000 in his lifetime, as compared with $64,000 for the average elementary school graduate, but that, it seems to us, is not the big thing about a college education.

A college education develops a man's mind, teaches him to think hard, work hard, and play hard, multiplies his capabilities, helps him to make the most of himself.

That's the big thing about a college education."

ATHLETIC NOTES

Juniors Defeat Freshmen In First Baseball Game.

The first baseball game of the season was played last Thursday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock between the Juniors and Freshmen. The score was 7 to 5 in favor of the Juniors.

Only four innings were played, but this gave both teams time to show their ability. The first three innings looked like a walk over for the Juniors—not that they made so many runs but that the Juniors didn't give the Freshmen a chance to make any,—they put them out in quick successive order, but, the last inning was a different story. The Freshmen picked up and made five runs before the Juniors put them out, ending the game.

The line up was as follows:

Juniors		Freshmen
Lyon	p.	Knowlton
Huntington	c.	Hun
Keeler	1 b	Pancake
Stone	2 b	M. Wood
MacDonell	3 b	Gibbons
Prentis	s. s.	Hodges
Olcott	r. f.	Squibb
Williams	c. f.	Bennett
Mon	l. f.	Goodwin

Substitutes Juniors—Sproul for Huntington; Jackson for Lyon; Lyon for Sproul.

Substitutes: Freshmen — Seneca for Bennett.

Seniors Beat Sophomores And Win 14-6 Victory.

Last Friday afternoon the Seniors played and defeated the Sophomores in a first team baseball game, in a score of 14 to 6. Both teams were unfortunate in not having all of their first team people in the game, but those on the teams played very well and the game showed up excellent material for games to come.

The Seniors made ten runs the first inning and practically held the same lead throughout the game. There were only four innings, like the Junior-Freshman game on Thursday, but later in the season the games will be longer.

Line-up was as follows:

Seniors		Sophomores
Paddock	p.	Swift
Prior	c.	Crane
McDiarmid	1 b	Lewis
Walton	2 b	vonBrieson
Ferguson	3 b	Gibbs
Miller	s. s.	Westcott

Hikers Make Annual Climb To Top of High Peak.

Fourteen people made the annual hike to High Peak, last Saturday afternoon, thus winning 80 points.

The hikers rode by bus to the foot of the mountain, where they left their supper, and started up the five mile climb. Although no one knew the way, all of the landmarks previously described by Miss Rogers were easily located.

Attempts at nature appreciation were somewhat hindered by the steepness of the climb, but the view from the top of the mountain was breath-taking. Sweet Briar was in plain sight, and Paul's Mountain looked like the proverbial molehill.

While the climb up took over two hours, the descent was rapid, hastened by the thought of supper at the bottom.

The people who climbed the mountain were: Miss Badger, Miss Pearl, G. Olcott, J. Cole, G. Lewis, M. Swift, P. Whitaker, S. Groner, A. McRae, P. Mason, E. Maxwell, J. Millar, M. Miller, D. Smith.

Mrs. Rounsevelle Lauds Archery Enthusiasts.

The following letter has been received from Mr. Rounceveile who visited Sweet Briar, with Mrs. Rounsevele, last week, giving exhibitions and lessons in Archery:

Pinehurst, N. C.
April 19th, 1929.

To the Girls of Sweet Briar College:
Congratulations, Congratulations!

It is impossible for me to express my deep appreciation for your sincere enthusiasm in the romantic sport of Archery.

It has been a great pleasure to do my bit in teaching you the technique of this sport to my best ability, I can see great possibilities in you as Champion Archers, and I feel sure you will enjoy the pleasure of the sport for many years to come.

Practice in archery will give you something that will always be an asset to you, and to meet you in the major tournaments will give me much pleasure.

To say that I am proud of the progress you have shown in the last year is mildly expressing my feelings toward you.

Sincerely,
Elizabeth Rounsevelle.

Opportunities For Camp Positions Offered.

Pinehurst, N. C.,
April 19th, 1929.

Miss Harriet Rogers,
Sweet Briar College,
Sweet Briar, Va.

Dear Miss Rogers:

If any of your students or instructors would be interested in positions as instructors at various camps or resorts, either for this coming summer, or the next winter season, I wish you would have them file their names with us, as there is always a considerable demand for people who are qualified to teach archery.

Some of the offers are very attractive indeed, from many angles, and we would be glad to know of anybody that you think might be interested in filling one of the openings that we so frequently have.

Yours truly,
Phillip Rounsevelle,
The Archers Company.

Track.

There is an extra practice period at three o'clock on Friday afternoons for those who want more practice in track.

With the track meet only three weeks away, everyone ought to be out, practicing diligently in hurdling, hop-step and jump, shot-put, javelin throwing, and the various other branches of track. The Seniors especially need more recruits.

Several records were broken last year. Who is going to make new records this year?

Katherine Overton Wins Silver Arrow.

Katherine Overton won a silver arrow on Monday, April 15th, in an impromptu Archery Tournament instigated by Mr. Rounsevelle. Mr. and Mrs. Rounsevelle, it will be remembered, were here that day, and Mrs. Rounsevelle instructed the archery classes.

Mr. Rounsevelle offered the silver arrow to the girl who could shoot the best end during the day. Katherine won it by shooting six consecutive arrows in the gold.

Miss Sparrow Entertains History Club At Supper.

Miss Sparrow entertained the History Club at supper party at Mrs. Wills' on Sunday evening. Twenty-five members of the club were present, also Miss Fraser and Miss Gibbons.

After supper each guest had some example of a modern tendency as her contribution to adiscussion.

The conversation touched on everything from "shoo-fly" railroads to imitation antiques.

Boxwood Inn-interests

Mrs. Edward McCready and Mrs. B. H. Brack drove down from Pittsburgh, Pa., to spend a few days with Betty McCready.

Mrs. Milton J. Anderson, from Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. Theodore Borroum, from Corinth, Miss., arrived Sunday to visit their daughters until May Day.

Men from Yale, Princeton, and Universities in this vicinity numbered the greater part of the guests at the Inn over this week-end.

Visitors Gives Highest Praise To Sweet Briar

The natural beauties of Sweet Briar seem especially appreciated by outsiders, who consider it an ideal place for a vacation.

Mrs. John L. O'Brian from Buffalo, N. Y., recently expressed her opinion of Sweet Briar in terms of the highest praise, to a News reporter.

"The independence from convention makes for the greatest possible charm," said Mrs. O'Brian during the interview. She felt especially the hospitality shown by the personnel of the faculty. "An intellectual treat" she termed her contact with them.

The central position of Sweet Briar to points of historical interest and natural beauty, throughout the State, appeal to the visitor. The general agreement is that the location is just far enough away from a city the size of Lynchburg.

"Southern cordiality" said Mrs. O'Brian, "must be the explanation for the warm reception given a stranger, by the student body and the faculty."

A Gentle Reminder!

Just as a gentle reminder and at the same time a positive proof that Spring is really here, here the tent catapillars have put in their appearance in overwhelmingly large numbers during the past week. No place on campus is overlooked by these busy, slowly—yet inevitably moving creatures.

They swarm over the arcades, on the roads, and on the terraces of the Boxwood Inn by the thousands, never seeming to find what they are so blindly seeking. We wish some knowing person would find something to make their homes more attractive to them than the campus. They are most inconsiderate, since they drop in silence from the trees onto the innocent passer-by, or quietly creep over him until he suddenly becomes aware of a ticklish feeling on his neck and shuddderingly brushes the unwanted burden as far away from himself as he can.

These creeping visitors to the Inn are swept up and burned at least five or six times each day, and still there seems to be no end to their hosts. In addition to the pleasures they afford co everyone on campus, these creatures of course are a great benefit to the trees which they inhabit and whose beauty they greatly enhance.

It has been suggested that some enterprising umbrella salesman could make a fortune here at present since umbrellas would be just the thing to ward off these pests which persist in descending upon us from above. Colored umbrellas would put the finishing touch to many a campus ensemble and would give Sweet Briar prestige among other colleges as the originator of a unique style.

College Papers.

The publication of college student newspapers has come to be a business the extent of which few people realize. There are more than 400 college papers published at least once a week, with an average of some 25 students working on each paper.

There are 32 college dailies in the country, about half of which use the telegraph service of some nationally-known news-gathering organization. About 35 college papers are published either twice or three times a week. More than 300 colleges have weekly newspapers, and nearly a hundred more small colleges have papers coming out less often than once a week but more often than monthly.

Academic credit for work on college papers is the exception rather than the rule. 24 out of 25 dailies reported financial compensation for the editor and business manager, while seven divide the profits among the members of the entire staff. As for the money the staff members are paid, in about 40 per cent of the cases the amounts are based on the percentage of profits.
